Summer provides the opportunity to explore dance without borders, competition or exams. It allows studying for the pure joy of movement and exploration, fine tuning your technique, strengthening your body and challenging your mind.

The danceLab promises two weeks of uninterrupted and inspiring dance classes, workshops and performances beginning August 23rd, 2010 and running through until September 3rd. The danceLab is open to Intermediate, Advanced, Pre Professional and Professional dancers. The danceLab promises a unique, challenging and fun dance experience while striving to help students grow technically, artistically and personally.

Dance Co is pleased and excited to announce this year's danceLab lineup, featuring guest teachers from New York - Chris Hale, Calen Kurka and Maya Escueta. Also joining us is Tsal Vladimir from the Vaganova Academy of Russia along with Dance Co's core faculty.

The second week of danceLab will feature post dance day field trips (4:00-7:00PM) to various Vancouver outdoor parks, pools and performances and evening choreography sessions from 7:00-9:00PM with Chris Hale and Calen Kurka. Workshoped pieces will be performed at the showcase September 3rd and become Dance Co 2010/2011 repertory. Thursday September 2nd, there will be a gala dinner and slumber dance party! Don't miss it!

Summer is a wonderful time to train, and solid dance training, body awareness and understanding are crucial to a dancer's success. Dance Co Company and Intensive students are expected to participate in the danceLab. Attendance is highly recommended to all Competitive members and to those students aspiring to become a member of our competitive or company program.

Experienced dancers new to Dance Co wishing to dance at Competitive or Company levels in Fall 2010 should participate in the danceLab for assessment.
